SUGARMAN

We have been working in partnership with Randox Testing Services (RTS) for a number of years and they have always offered us an excellent service, fully supporting us with our occupational health service provision to our clients on a nationwide basis.

Often responding at extremely short notice to not only meet, but surpass our client expectations, with an always friendly and highly efficient service.

We can wholeheartedly recommend RTS as a trusted partner for your business.

YORWASTE

Yorwaste first engaged with Randox Testing Services (RTS) in 2015 to develop a post-incident, with-cause testing policy. RTS were instrumental in helping us develop a policy and introduce the process into the business. In addition, they offered management training to help develop the business' understanding of what to look for and do in relation to drugs and alcohol in the workplace.

Yorwaste then approached RTS to develop a random drug testing regime which has been introduced seamlessly across the business. They have also supported the growth of the random drug testing programme in line with the company's growth.

We are currently looking at introducing pre-employment screening and, with RTS, exploring the benefits of this approach for our business.

RTS have provided a professional and personal service to Yorwaste and have helped to support a business which has developed from a very limited drug and alcohol stand-point. When issues have arisen they have been proactive and responsive and have tailored their service to meet our needs.

We as a business would strongly recommend RTS in helping develop and deliver a robust approach to drugs and alcohol in the workplace.

HENDERSON GROUP

We switched provider for our drug and alcohol policy almost two years ago, moving to Randox Testing Services. The switchover was relatively seamless and the impact on our business has been positive. Our tests are now all completed within target and we have realised a saving to boot.

We are glad we made the switch.

GRAHAM CONSTRUCTION

GRAHAM Construction are proud to be partnered with Radox Testing Services as their main drug and alcohol service provider.

Over the years they have given a consistent, prompt, efficient, and professional service that delivered what was promised, when promised, to the proper agreed standards, which assists us in managing our relevant responsibilities with ease and confidence.

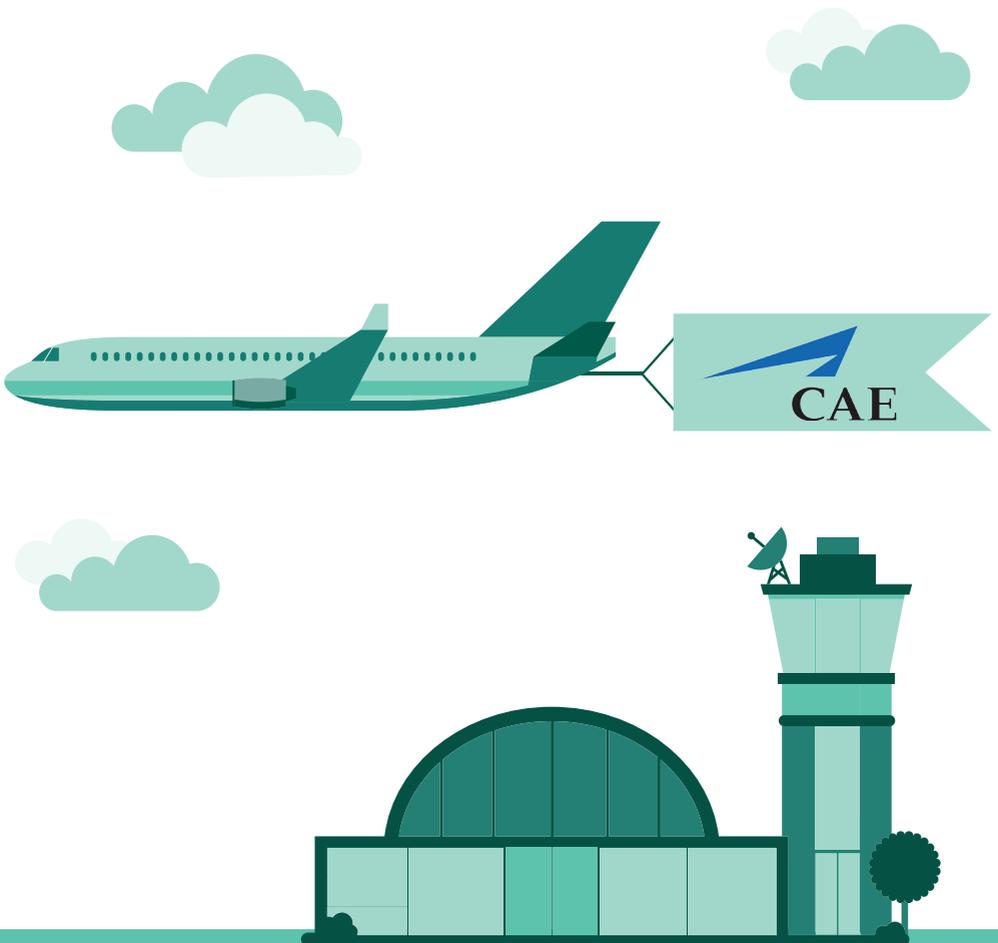

I would have no hesitation in recommending them to others.
